

THE MANAGEMENT OF STATUS EPILEPTICUS

Assist. Ioana Varga MD

Faculty of Medicine, University Transilvania, Braşov

Status epilepticus (SE) represents a major medical emergency that needs immediately treatment, after very well done protocols. The aim of treatment is to prevent neuronal damage that appears secondary to the metabolic disorders and to the electric discharges during the epileptic seizures. In this paper we propose a therapeutic guide for SE, presenting also the main complications that could appear, its treatment and the main reasons of failure in treatment.