This study analyses the evolution of reproductive health markers registered in Brasov between 1979 and 2005 corroborated with abortion related mortality dynamic. The analysis includes major differences emerged in the obstetrical pathology spectrums between 1979 and 1989 and between 1990 and 2005 as well as the consequences upon reproductive health induced by the legal structure and its updates. The benefice effects of the pregnancy hygiene inducted by family planning methods and the consequences of abortion related mortality are emphasized.
