

PATOGENEZA PRIMO-INFECTIEI
TUBERCULOASE
FAZA IV – DE INFLAMAȚIE CRONICĂ
GRANULOMATOASĂ

Asist. univ. dr. Dana Alexandrescu<sup>1</sup>
șef. lucr. dr. Milena Man<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Universitatea Transilvania din Brașov,
Facultatea de Medicină

<sup>2</sup>UMF „Iuliu Hațieganu” Cluj-Napoca

The primary tuberculosis infection occur to the first contact with Mycobacterium tuberculosis and the result could be at contact place an inflammatory process with two components: specific and unspecific. Mycobacterium tuberculosis need to encounter alveolar macrophages where they are ingested but resist destruction within these cells.